CAPE AGULHAS WINES

7 Rows Snowbush 2025

26 years ago the very first vine went into the ground on Lomond.

Our goal from the outset remains unchanged, to create South Africa's finest cool climate wines which are comparable to the best in the world.

The pursuit of quality is, by definition, incremental and perpetual. Over decades, we have studied every slope on the farm, identifying 18 different soil types and where they lie within the vineyards.

Trials have been conducted including different pruning techniques, cover crops and irrigation methods to determine the most effective regime to produce quality grapes.

We harvest not by block, but per soil type. This ensures optimum ripeness and preserving each section's unique flavours. We can accurately identify the distinctive characteristics that terroir imparts. Utilising satellite imagery and boots on the ground, we monitor vigour, growth and ripeness.

Varying terroir creates microclimates within each vineyard block. Within each block there are rows of vines which have flavour compounds which are exceptional.

These rows are vinified separately and tasted over and over again in the pursuit of perfection.

Tasting Notes:

Our flagship wine is a blend of wooded Sauvignon Blanc, Semillon & Viognier

Grapes, from each of these cultivars, are processed and vinified separately.

Each of these cultivar's grapes are gently pressed, with the clear juice racked for fermentation. Fermentation begins in stainless steel, and once active, a portion is transferred to 500L French oak barrels to complete fermentation and mature for eight months under temperature-controlled conditions.

While identifying the best expression of a single cultivar can be relatively straightforward, the true artistry lies in blending and bringing together different cultivars to create something greater than the sum of its parts. Each cultivar is selected not only for its individual excellence, but for how it enhances and elevates the others. The components are meticulously blended ahead of bottling.

56% Sauvignon Blanc, 28% Semillon and 16% Viognier, the 2025 Snowbush offers notes of subtle wood spice and fruit. The pallet invites you to layers of flavours of lime, gooseberries and white peach that intertwine seamlessly while lingering on the palate.
